

Knowledge, a common denominator around the world. L-r. Vera Cruz, Kathy Wicklatz, Todd Waters, Paul Pasawat.

"Now the way I see it . . ." Vera Cruz and Mr. Harmon.

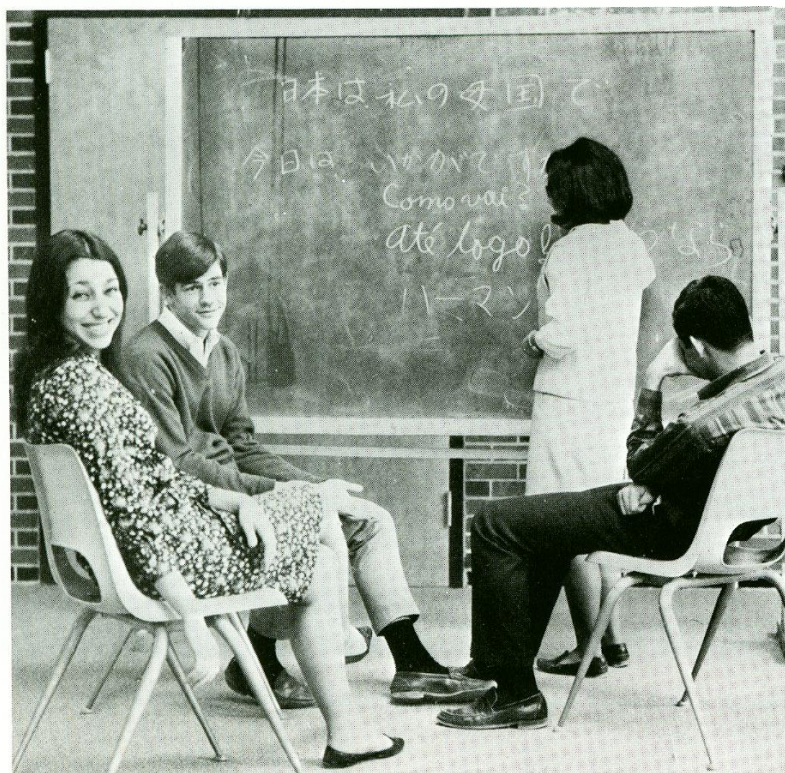

"Ah! Yardley Black Label!" Charlie Wright, returnee from Brazil, re-adjusts easily.

A.F.S.

The American Field Service or A.F.S. is an organization to promote better world relations and understanding through the exchange of high school students. Wayzata hosted two A.F.S. students this year, Vera Oswaldo-Cruz of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and Paul Pasawat of Bangkok, Thailand. We also were honored by Yoshino Nakajima from Japan, who spent her junior and senior years here after she was invited by some friends who live in Wayzata. Yoshino plans on attending college here, too.

Returning this year in January from Sao Paulo, Brazil was Charlie Wright, the first "foreign ambassador" Wayzata sent abroad in many years.

These four students did much to give the students at Wayzata a greater understanding of the cultures and heritages of their countries. We hope Vera, Paul and Yoshino will take home with them a better understanding of the American way of life.

"Run that by again . . ." Yoshino patiently attempts to teach Japanese to the three AFSers.

Wayzata's 1966 AFS Students Vera Cruz and Paul Pasawat